

Artists for Girgarre Moosic Muster 2017

Mama's Mountain Jug Band - get ready for foot tapping, body swinging music and banter. They play a mixture of back to roots music, old hillbilly songs, jug band gems, hokum, jazz, blues and a dash of barbershop harmonies with Roy on guitar, uke, harmonica, washboard and jug, Evan on dobro, mandolin, guitar and bass, Keith on guitar and bass and Sally on fiddle.

Plush Toys - Plush Toys offer an eclectic blend of contemporary acoustic and Irish, Australian and American folk as well as some favourites from the 1940s to current times. Occasionally Claire and Glen throw in a few rock songs, beautifully executed on acoustic guitars with a little blues harp added to the mix.

The Belindas – Belinda Gibson and her trusty uke backed by the Boys Belinda (Andy and Mark) and their assortment of banjo, guitar, mandolin and bass deliver a unique haunting sound.

Chris Newman – A festival favourite, Chris accompanies himself on guitar, singing country, rock 'n' roll and country rock, especially Neil Diamond, Roy Orbison and John Fogerty songs.

Dancing with Angels – A local Bradford band that has been together for over 12 years, featuring Bruce Sedawie, Ricky Smit and Tony O'Rourke. This band specializes in gospel music, but also turn their hand to bluegrass, 60s and 70s as well as rock 'n' roll.

James Gang – John James on guitar, Pam James and Rod Hearn on mandolin, Dave Ashby on bass and Peter Roach on accordion, play a mix of country, ballads, bluegrass and bush music. The James Gang have a long history of performing around the Mornington Peninsula.

Mississippi Movers – Mississippi Movers is a seven-piece ensemble playing traditional jazz from the Dixieland era. The band is led by Phil Edwards on trombone and vocals, Graeme Hughes on keyboard, Ted Dawson on drums, Dave Graham on double bass and David Aumann on guitar and vocals.

Interlude - Interlude is a duo of Ali Lane and Clark Morgan – they bring their unique arrangements based on rhythm and harmony to the hits of yesterday and today.

Just for Fun- Max Amos, Barry Larkin and Peter Buchi have been playing together for some years. They co-op others to present a fluid sound, playing anything from rock'n'roll to bluegrass and anything in between.

Spare Parts-Spare Parts are a genuine bunch of great mates from all over Victoria, who originally met at Jigarre Jammin'. Collectively they perform a diverse range of melodies, instrumentals and harmonies with vocals by Cathy, Audrey guitar, Angela fiddle, John banjo, Di mando and Jan on double bass.
